Sean Haag named president of the Medtronic Ear, Nose, & Throat business

Medtronic, a global leader in healthcare technology, today announced that Sean Haag has been named President of Medtronic Ear, Nose, and Throat (ENT). He will also serve on the Neurosciences Portfolio leadership team.

“Sean is a highly strategic, people-centered leader with a strong track record of driving performance while building trust with teams and customers,” said Brett Wall, President and Executive Vice President of the Medtronic Neurosciences Portfolio. “He has led the ENT business with clarity and discipline during a period of transition, and his deep understanding of the market, the portfolio, and our customers positions him well to lead ENT into its next phase of growth in an increasingly dynamic and competitive environment.”

Sean served as interim President of Medtronic ENT starting in July 2025. During that time, he strengthened the leadership team, deepened customer relationships, and delivered strong business results. His appointment reflects both the momentum underway in the ENT business and continued confidence in his leadership.

“I’m honored to continue leading the ENT organization and to work alongside such a talented and committed team,” said Sean. “Our ENT business plays a critical role in improving the lives of nearly 3 million patients each year, and I’m excited to build on the progress we’ve made as we accelerate innovation, strengthen partnerships, and deliver meaningful impact for those we serve around the world.”

Sean brings nearly 30 years of experience in the healthcare industry, including 20 years at Medtronic, with deep expertise across leadership, strategy, and commercial operations. He has a strong track record of building high-performing teams and translating complex innovation into real-world value for patients and customers. Prior to serving as interim President of the Medtronic ENT business, Sean was Vice President of Marketing and Clinical for the AiBLE ecosystem within the Medtronic Cranial and Spinal Technologies business.

Sean holds an MBA in Strategy, Finance, and Marketing from Carnegie Mellon University and a Bachelor of Science in Accounting from Indiana University.
