

Americans are optimistic that AI will improve healthcare in 2024

51%

are optimistic AI will lead to major healthcare advancements in 2024.

2/3

agree technology breaks down barriers in healthcare.

56%

say AI can improve access to healthcare.

Roughly 6 in 10 believe one of the main benefits of AI is to diagnose and detect health conditions.

Addressing perceived barriers to AI adoption is key

Barriers to AI in healthcare

83%

Potential to make mistakes

80%

Lack of evidence

Nearly half

say they would feel more confident in AI if these barriers were addressed.

Americans want their doctor calling the shots - not AI say they would prefer to work with a physician who uses AI, but when presented with specific ways a physician might use AI, Americans appear more open.

1 in 3

67%

would work with a physician who uses AI to analyze tests, x-rays and CT scans.

62%

are open to physicians using AI to detect cancer.

53%

in excellent health prefer to work with a doctor using AI, compared to just 29% who rate their health as fair.

62%

have a favorable opinion of symptom trackers and health-related apps that use AI.

Learn more about Medtronic's commitment to advancing healthcare through technology and examples of the impact of their AI-based solutions by visiting news.medtronic.com.

*Source: This poll was conducted by Medtronic and Morning Consult between September 27 - 30, 2023, among a national sample of 2,213 general population adults. Results from the full survey have a margin of error of +/- 2 percentage points.